DETAILED ACTION

The Amendment filed on November 3, 2004 has been acknowledged.

Claim Objections

1. Claims 23, 29, 34, and 42 are objected to because of the following informalities:

- claim 23, "a reservoir" (line 2) should be -- said reservoir --.
- claim 23, "a fluid supply vessel" (line 2) the -- said fluid supply vessel --.
- claim 29, "a result of a reading" is not recited in claim 27 as being obtained by the method of claim 27.
- claim 34, "a fluid supply vessel" (lines 1-2) should be -- said fluid supply vessel --.
- claim 42, after "level" (line 8) should delete ".".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2863

Claims 23-25 and 32-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kobayashi et al. (US 6,733,114) in view of Hayes et al. (US 5,658,802).

Regarding claims 23, 32-38, and 40, Kobayashi et al. discloses a method and system (Fig. 2) for replenishing a pulse jet reservoir (7) comprising:

- providing a printing system (Fig. 2) comprising a pulse-jet printhead (6), a pressure gauge (23), a reservoir (7), and a fluid supply vessel (9), wherein said reservoir has an inlet line (inlet line of 10) and an outlet line (outlet to 35), said inlet line capped by a valve (26) for connection to a fluid supply vessel (9) and said outlet line in fluid communication with said printhead (Fig. 2), wherein said pressure gauge comprises a manometer (23), and wherein said fluid supply vessel is connected to said reservoir via a supply vessel line (10) connected to said valve (Fig. 2);

- connecting said fluid supply vessel to said reservoir (Fig. 2);

- opening said valve (opening 26), and

- feeding print medium from said fluid supply vessel to said reservoir (Fig. 2), wherein said print medium is fed under pressure to said reservoir during use of said pulse-jet nozzle (during printing process even though the nozzle may be pausing, Fig. 2).

Regarding claim 39, Kobayashi et al. discloses that gauge pressure is monitored and pressure compensation is applied to maintain said pressure within a desired range (column 16, lines 42-51).

However, Kobayashi et al. does not disclose that said print medium comprises a biopolymer or precursor thereof, regarding claim 23, and a method of producing a biopolymer array, regarding claims 24 and 25.

Nevertheless, Hayes et al. discloses that said print medium comprises a biopolymer or precursor thereof (Abstract, lines 1-4) for the purpose of producing a biopolymer array (Abstract, line 3).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide Kobayashi et al. with a print medium comprising a biopolymer as disclosed by Hayes et al. for the purpose of producing a biopolymer array.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 26-29 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. Claim 42 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the objection(s) set forth in this Office action.

5. Claims 1-5, 8, 30, 31, and 41 are allowed.

Reasons For Allowance

6. The combination or method as claimed wherein a printing system comprising lines configured for individually connecting a printhead and manometer to a fluid source (claims 1, 30, 31, 41, 42) or contacting a biopolymeric array having a polymeric ligand that specifically binds to said analyte, with a sample suspected of comprising said analyte under conditions sufficient for binding of said analyte to a biopolymeric ligand on said array to occur (claim 26) is not disclosed, suggested, or made obvious by the prior art of record.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
